

Go's Birthday!

Chapter III - Lunch at The Curry Master.

Le Curry is one of the most famous restaurants around the entire Pokémon world, the restaurant is led by the Pop Star Chef Jacquin and his team making the best beef, fries and curry of the Kanto region, and even some say, from the whole world.

The restaurant is very well lit inside, customers can go for two or four seat tables, some of the tables are on the right side of the restaurant and you can sit on a very comfortable black sofa, the tables are made of light brown wood and the chairs are black and also very comfortable.

The ceiling of the one floor restaurant are of light brown wood and the walls of the restaurant are light brown colored, it's a very inviting atmosphere for everyone, on the walls you can see photos hanging of Jacquin with a lot of celebrities of the Pokémon World like the Elite Four Wataru from the Kanto region, Macro Cosmos boss Rose and even the world famous soccer player Uminei.

For the grownups you can go to the bar on the left side of the restaurant and have a drink, sometimes, even Jacquin himself when the restaurant is on it's closing hours goes to have a single drink with the customers and employees as they talk about life and char casually.

From outside the street you can smell the aroma of the curry and it's different flavors, inside the restaurant the smell turns into a even more inviting atmosphere for people to eat, not only the food of the restaurant is amazing but Jacquin is one of those truly amazing guys and even being a restaurant that celebrities all around the world frequent it's still a very democratic ambient where people from all backgrounds can eat and have fun by an affordable price.

The restaurant is full but the waiter and the Pokémon that Jacquin employ to help at the kitchen and the service can take all the work very easily, not only they are professionals, but they are the best professionals you can hire and they are even friends with Jacquin, it's like a big family of gastronomy geniuses.

- I can't believe I'm eating at Le Curry! Says Go with his eyes blues shining looking everywhere trying to spot all the people eating, he can even spot some celebrities and the different types of curry that people are eating, he would never have dreamed Satoshi would bring him to the restaurant he always wanted to eat.

Satoshi smiles and says - Director Sakuragi helped me book this! I also love curry, it's one of my favorite dishes, so what's not better than having curry here? Pikachu and Raboot are also impressed by the restaurant and they sniff the air feeling the different aromas of curry.

- Thanks a lot Satoshi! Says Go who is very happy to have a friend like Satoshi in his life, his face is a bit red because he feels he is being pampered by his best friend too much, he is going to work a lot for Satoshi's birthday to make it equal to his next year.

Pikachu and Raboot are sitting on the table with Satoshi and Go, Pokémon are allowed to eat too at Le Curry and the curry is made with ingredients that Pokémon can eat without feeling sick, the boys see the menu and they are deciding what to order from the all the types of stuff they have

- How about we go for a vegetable spicy curry and a carrot juice Raboot? Asks Go showing to Raboot a picture of the beautiful dish, Raboot looks at and nods positively - Raboot! Satoshi and Pikachu are going for a more sweet whipped cream curry and a Pokésoda.

The boys order the food to the waiter with his partner an Aipom and they get back to the kitchen to prepare their meals. Satoshi and Go chat about their recently battle against Team Rocket and how their strategy was good.

- Do you think the interview we did will air tonight? Asks Go in a pondering way to Satoshi who replies - I think so! She said it's for today's news, I hope my mom doesn't get worried that I have battled against Team Rocket again.

Go laughs a bit and says - We're always battling against Team Rocket, do you remember when they tried to capture the Ivysaur or during the Ice Race with the Piplup back in Sinnoh? Satoshi laughs too, because the truth is, they are always meeting each other during their adventures, the Pokémon trainer then adds - They should stop being so persistent in their evil deeds.

Satoshi then remembers Go's present and he says excitedly jumping a bit on his chair - Hey Go! Open your present! Pikachu and Raboot also cheer to the idea - Pika Pika! Cries the Pokémon while Raboot says - Rab Rab!

Go hearing that open his bag and take the envelope that it's a bit opened, Pikachu and Raboot get even closer to Go as he opens the envelope and brings forward the present, Go smiles and cheers loudly when he sees that the present it's a Nintendo eShop Card for his Switch.

- Satoshi! This is amazing! Says Go who is very happy with his present because there are a lot of games that he wants to play with his Switch, Satoshi who likes to play video games smiles and says - When we get home let's download some games and play! Go gets up from his chair and gives a strong hug to his friend who hugs him back.

The waiter arrives and delivers the vegetable spicy curry and carrot juice for Go and Raboot, to Satoshi and Pikachu, he gives the sweet whipped cream curry and two cans of Pokésoda - Thanks! Says Go and Satoshi at the same time as they dig in their curry, also giving a spoon for Pikachu and Raboot to join in.

The flavor of the curry is remarkable and amazing, they never ever had a curry so good in their life, the vegetable spicy curry is spicy in the correct level of spiciness and the sweetness of the whipped cream curry is perfect to balance the spicy and strong flavor of the curry.

- This is soooo goood! Says an overly enthusiastic Satoshi as he takes a big spoon full of curry to his mouth - Hum hum! It's the best curry I ever ate! Says Go enthusiastically, taking another spoon of curry to his mouth too.

Pikachu also loves the curry - Pikachu! Pikachu! Says the Pokémon with his cheeks a bit red from excitement and spicy flavor while Raboot makes a more low tone remark but he is also loving the vegetable flavor, the carrots are cut in star shape like he likes them to be - Rab Rab.

The gang eats their curry with their Pokémon as they chat about what games they want to play on their Switches when they arrive home, the possibility of Director

Sakuragi, Yoshino or even Koharu to have dinner with them at home and of course some Pokémon talk.

Suddenly Go hears a loud familiar voice - Hey Richi! Be careful or you are going to throw all the curry on us! Go looks back and he can't believe that in a nearby table one of the most famous Pokétubers ever, Red Movies Media, are having lunch too.

Red Movies Media is a trio of comedians composed of Richi, Maiku and Jei that make reviews of Pokéwood movies and bad movies like Diamond Arbok vs White Nickit and The Last Noibat on Earth, Go and his father usually watch some of their videos together even if his mother says they are not appropriated for his age because sometimes the movies are for older teenagers.

- Satoshi, those are some pretty famous people that my father loves over there! Says Go in an excited but whispering tone to Satoshi. - I never heard of them, but why don't you ask them for an autograph? Asks Satoshi already getting up from his chair and going to talk to the Red Movies Media.

Go starts to blush because he knows what Satoshi is going to do next, Pikachu follows Satoshi as he and his Pokémon get closer to Richi, Maiku and Jei while they are eating curry, Richi is a portly man wearing a flannel shirt and a Gyarados T-Shirt, he has very little brown hair on his head, Maiku is also a bit on the portly side, he is wearing a white shirt and his hair is black and Jei is a thin blonde man with a blonde beard, they are all in their thirties.

- Excuse me, sorry to interrupt you guys' meal, but my friend is a big fan of you guys and wants to have an autograph of you all, it's his birthday. Says Satoshi to Red Movies Media guys, Jei smiles, laughs a bit and points politely to Go - Oh, it's that boy over there your friend?

- Yes! It's him! His name is Go and his father also loves your guy's work. Go face is more red than a Darumaka by being noticed by famous celebrities.

Maiku laughs too seeing Go being embarrassed by being noticed by them - Oh, he is way younger than the audience we usually do our program for, but, hey, let's all take a selfie together like the young people like to do instead of a boring autograph!

The man gets up from the table with Jei at the same time that Richi is taking a spoon full of curry to his mouth but because they got up from the table very fast the table trembles a bit and the entire curry falls on Richi laps and he shouts - Guys! You spilled curry all over me!

The entire restaurant laughs at the unintentional comedy, provided by Red Movies Media, hearing the loud laugh and noise the owner of the restaurant, the super famous Jacquin, a portly bald man with blue eyes wearing a white and black chef uniform with a beautiful flower pattern appears from the kitchen and yells in a booming voice - Oi! What is going on here? His sudden appearance adds more fun to the scene and everyone laughs once again while Richi tries to clean himself with some paper napkins from all the curry split over him.

- Do you want to have bib too Richi? Asks Jacquin in a mocking but playful tone giving to Richi some napkins for him to clean himself, Jacquin know Red Movies Media already because they are frequent customers of his restaurant.

Maiku and Jei sit on the table with Go, Raboot and Pikachu, Go can't believe he is sitting with some of the most popular Pokétube celebrities, Jei then says politely - So, your father is a big fan of ours huh? Go says a bit embarrassed - Yes! I'm sorry for interrupting your guys' meal and being so invasive.

Maiku claps his hand and says laughing looking at Richi - Don't worry kid! We love our fans, why don't we take some selfies, let's just wait for Richi to clean himself up. Jacquin also joins the gang in their table and he is bringing a chocolate carrot cake on a beautiful silver plate - You know, it's tradition of our restaurant to give the customer on his birthday a cake! It's on the house!

Richi joins the rest of the gang and they take a lot of selfies together, despite being super celebrities, Richi, Maiku, Jei and Jacquin are very cool people and they spend the rest of the entire lunch chatting, eating curry and the delicious carrot chocolate cake with Go and Satoshi, they talk about Pokémon, movies, food and in the end Jacquin invited everyone on the restaurant to sing happy birthday to Go, everyone accepted and they sing, this that made Go a bit emotional by how amazing his birthday was going.

The food at Le Curry is magnificent, but more importantly, the great moments Go shared with his best friend Satoshi, Pikachu and Raboot and his newly made friends of Red Movies Media and Jacquin made him very happy.

What more surprises and adventures awaits Go on his birthday?