

Jim_nex#6125

Welcome back! I've been expecting you, I have been expecting all of you, to be able to discuss about that oh so 'long forgotten' topic regarding Team Cherry.

NOTE : I worked on this only for the sake of addressing all of the recent issues, and compile them into a nice well-made document, I won't get anything out of it, or will I?

Other than triggering Cherry, then yea, so if you're reading this, you don't even have to read the whole thing, I'm not expecting you to, since your lazy ass won't even bother to read it, that's how bad you can get, which is why I'm making this paragraph clear and putting it at the beginning so you can at least be able to see this before you close the tab and go on ahead and talk shit about our response, since you're on your own side, you're bound to try to make yourself superior in hopes to try to damn this speech to hell

If you want to attack us, do it with a doc, otherwise small little paragraphs won't be enough to what you can get in response

Goes to all the staff as well, someone's bound to criticize over me "wasting my time" over writing it, but if I am passionate about a conflict like this I write it all out, you handle your issues in your own mediocre ways including criticism over it, and we deal with them in a way such as writing this speech in contradiction

It happened again, no surprise there

It's been weeks, you know, since the last response over, and since then, despite having all of the drama, we were slowly coming into terms with Team Cherry, starting to begin to interchange, but despite that, Cherry was still the same person that he is now, nothing really changed, and that lack of change is what displayed today, I hadn't really been expecting it in its entirety, but it was too good to be true, still grudges to see, for as it had occurred again

It was only a matter of time

Let's take a look back at the previous drama, if you want, you can go ahead and look at the previous care taken letters that had been done compiling all against the defense of Cherry

Cherry :

<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1537yWfvSyEjV15SSsiaNoqxbFzOMCiUrDZHsTXISNA/edit?usp=sharing>

False Treaties :

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1xk11GNUdz-T5MdY9GR-OQFm3_hNnQurf0cIRsPYdkh4/edit?usp=sharing

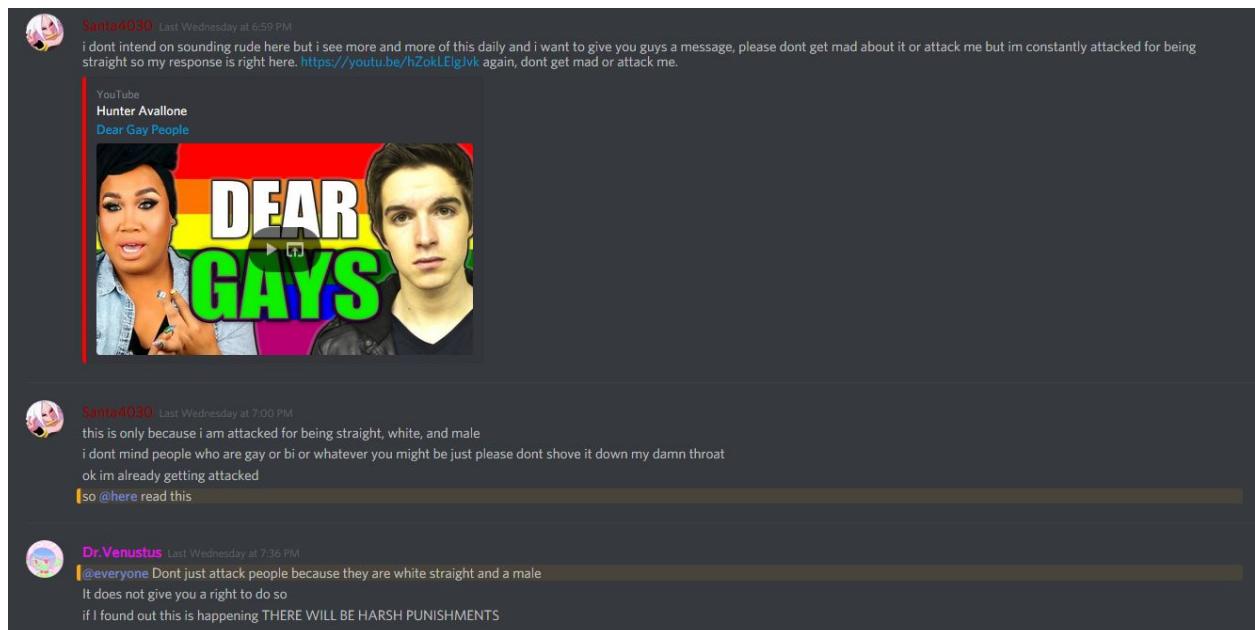

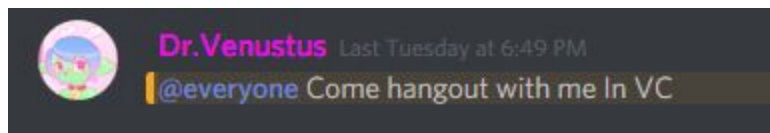

So, now to talk about the drama that occurred today, just when you thought you would have been having a peaceful Friday, at least for some people

The Drama

Over the days, Cherry and other staff have been constantly pinging using @everyone and @here for very mediocre reasons, either to just annoy and try to get people to speak, or to try to ping us for information that we did not really care about

A few days ago, Cherry, along with a few other staff, began to ping everyone in Team Cherry for very unnecessary reasons, now sure, it is perfectly fine to ping for any important announcements, but pinging for things such as this, especially things that we don't really know how or even care, is just a mediocre way to bring attention to you or the chat itself in hopes of trying to ignite it, but in the coming days, it would ironically, ignite it, to the point of no return, oh it ignited the chat alright.

It started out as something that bugged people only for a bit, some complaints of "why the ping" here and there, but it then started to increase, the complaints, and the pings of stupidity kept rolling in along as well.

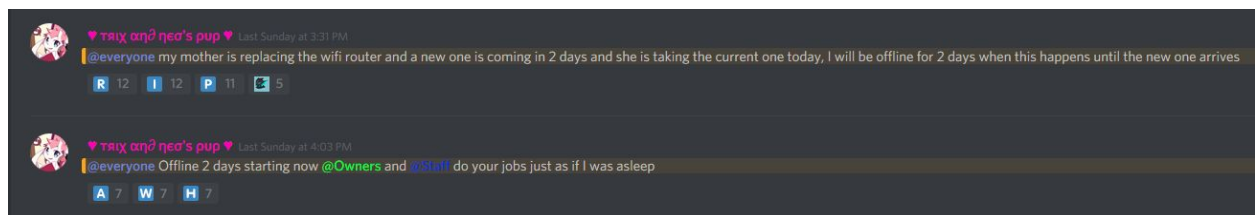

I'm gonna go ahead and criticize these 2 mediocre pings :

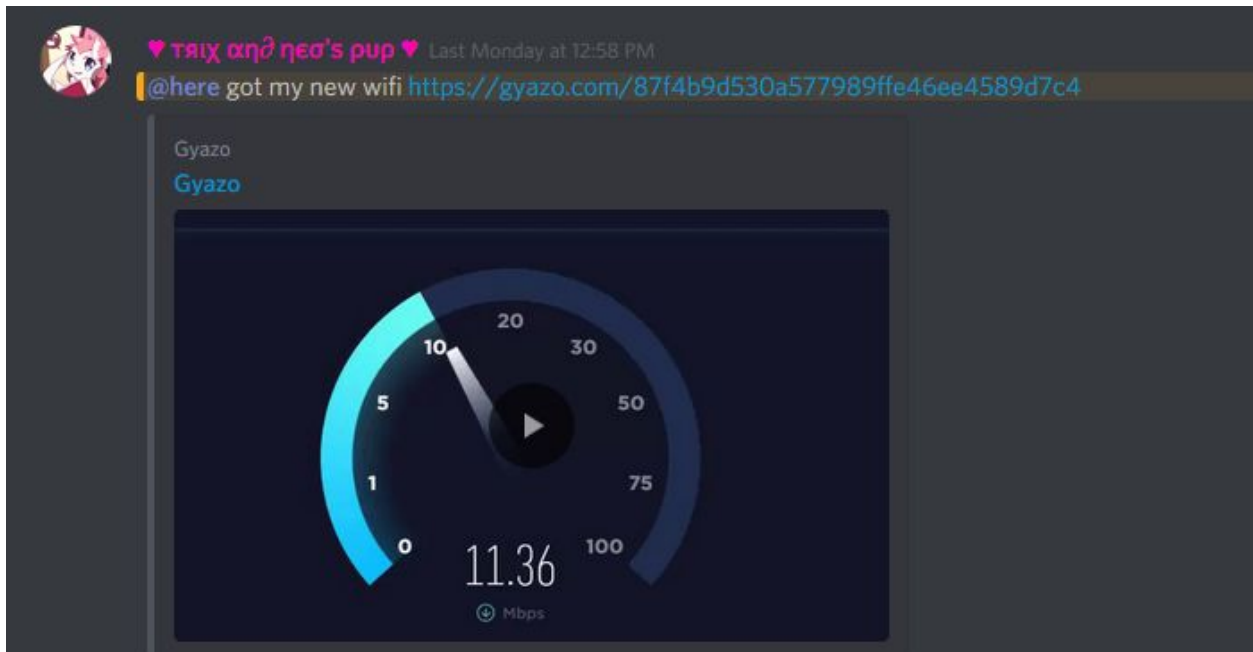

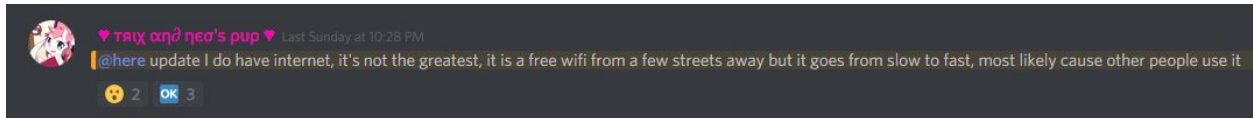

I don't know who attacks you, but I'm sure people would want to be white, straight, and male, and despite you saying that, I don't think that anyone would care if you are white, straight, and male, and discussing about your own issues really, I don't think it even deserves to be in the pings, but since you're funding huge ass giveaways for Team Cherry, you're basically Cherry's to go ahead and help improve the server as well, so I don't think Cherry would even bother to care about anything else that happens as long that someone else is doing it other than his lazy ass, or that someone is trying to fund the chat for him, because he won't even budge to do it.

BUT, don't forget about the second ping, we've been reminded once, and we have been given the ability to be pinged once again, because ALL of us, are apparently attacking white, straight, and male people, and Santa sees it to be able to advise us of his own problems.

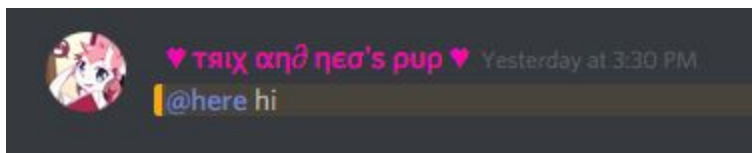

*Onward to the following pings, shall we..? *sigh

Hey, this was actually a pretty legitimate reason to ping, declaring your inactivity in the server for a specific reason, that is really fine to ping for, at least, not when you decided to ping us more, "do your jobs as if I was asleep", because the following pings will prove to you as it was.

Thanks for flexing your 15 mbps wifi plan and speed, I'm sure we really wanted to see such blazing speeds that you were going to wait for 2 days to be able to have THIS amazing wifi speed difference! It's not the first time you flexed something at us or everyone though

Continuing on, it only severed, and then it continued, with Cherry and his intent to try to ignite the chat, began to ping anyone who would be online in #cherry-community, slowly brought onslaught to it because of the amount of times it has been done, sometimes it would result fine, but the insane amount of pings, there could only be one solution...

Why not suppress pings in the server?

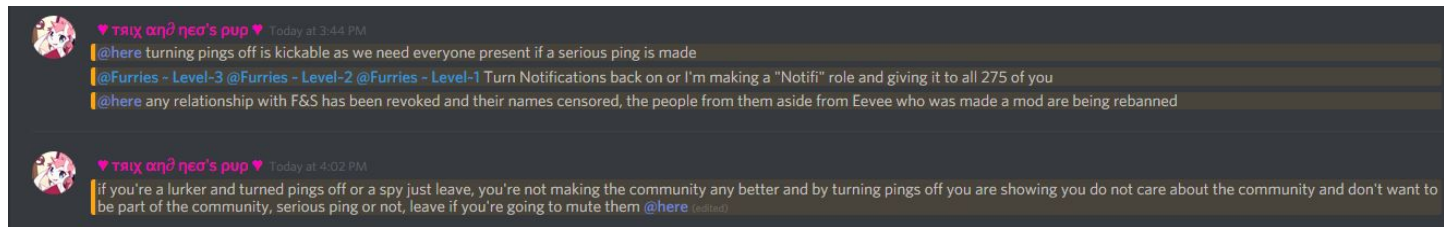

Why not will you ask, well that would be the only way to end all the crap pings being thrown like if they were nothing of value to mention everyone for.

Well what if you miss all of the important things that go on in it? (sarcasm)

Sometimes, for when the pings really matter, and you want to stay up to date with what goes on in life or to others, focused on the group of course, you would want to have pings so that you can look at what happens, but seeing that the use of pings is a complete idiocy, then you would want to do what's best is to disable them, well, as we continued, to today's drama, where Cherry decided to ping in hopes of 'sparking up' the chat, he ended up creating a complete flame war, in which he kicked me, and many others, and decided to kick most of the people from F&S. Guess you can't keep your choice focused, ey?

Well that ended up resulting in drama, drama that he doesn't like, yet being hypocritical about it, drama that he started, that he wants to correct and accuse us for causing it, when the primary causant was him.

Followed after myself being kicked, for once again telling the truth to Cherry, which Cherry despises, and tries to solve everything with purging the chat, because he seeks to end all that he started himself, he makes so many pings, pinging hell, launching over to drop them over the already damaged server, so that it can take more pings that it can handle

Again, Cherry makes a shitty accusation, why would turning pings off be a moderatable excuse, people do not have to be played as puppets by you, and for that matter, people can be able to suppress pings in the server as much as they please, seeing that it may be rather necessary now since you made this nice shitty threat in spite to "try to make yourself a better person" as you have been saying, and as much as you have been trying, oh I know, you've been trying a damn lot, and I can see that very well.

How are you even supposed to view if people have pings suppressed or not, although, you might notice that due to the activity on your damn server near 0, especially after this, hehe.

It brings me back to the time where Cherry was banning people for being in a server that another Discord user advertised through the list of members in Team Cherry, THROUGH DMs, yes, and Cherry would just join in to see mutuals and threaten to kick them if they don't leave that group, trying to ruin any chance for others, despite it not being advertising in the server, which I'm sure is not allowed.

I was one of the people being banned, ah yes, old times, when I had recently ingressed in the server, and then noticed day by day, slowly, how unfit Cherry was to manage a server like this, slowly killing what he started with stuff like this, and I had to make a small speech in attempt to get back in.

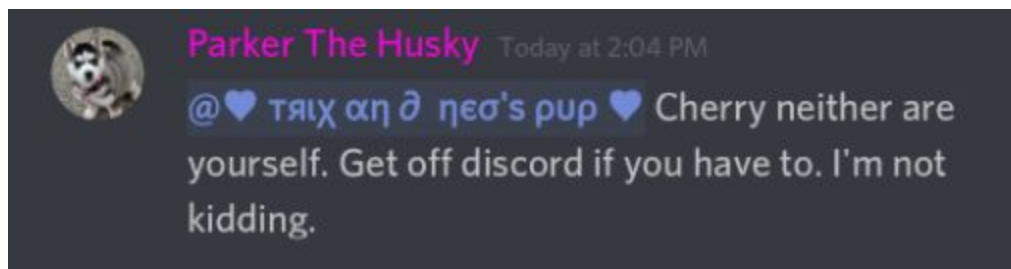

In the desperation and panicking of Cherry, pinging again to threaten people and making a useless role that won't change your ability of pings, or unless a bot uses it, or so I've heard, but why would it still matter, Cherry's desperation is getting ahold of him trying to restore activity, and decides to cut ties with us because of that, well, that's how much of a partnership there was, and it was bound to happen, there can't be a time without it, ya know?

Geez, now Cherry decides to call everyone careless for not being active in the community, well don't even expect everyone to be active after what you decided to do, not everyone is going to be active in the server, people have different interests, and will be most active in the server that they seem is best, especially by telling them to turn pings back on so they can hear about your bullshittery? No thanks.

You are showing that you do not care about the community, handling the server in such abrupt ways, and all that you have caused and done that has led to this.

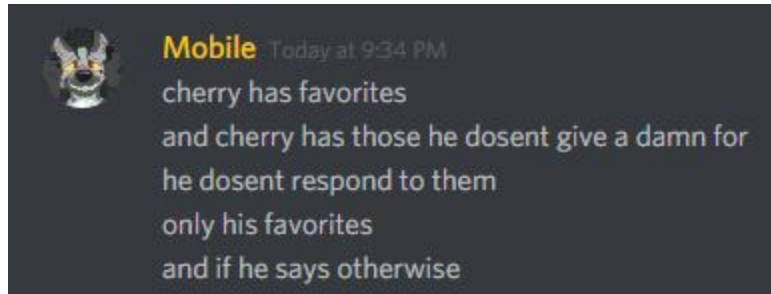

Coincidentally, saw this happen also, which was shortly deleted by Cherry, what a surprise (not)

If I had to write all of the things Cherry has done in response, all stuff related to this, I'd have more than 20 pages...

A staff member was banned for trying to tell the truth, Cherry has priorities, usually the people who 'fund' the group, or fund him for that matter, with limiteds or any other value instead of him using money to buy it all onsite, to then later try to flex it all on us

Even the staff themselves have things to say in response, but they won't be banned for the sake that they maintain Cherry with limiteds, or anything to 'fund' the group, now that's what Cherry values!

A message from our fellow mod Mobile and ex-mod of Team Cherry

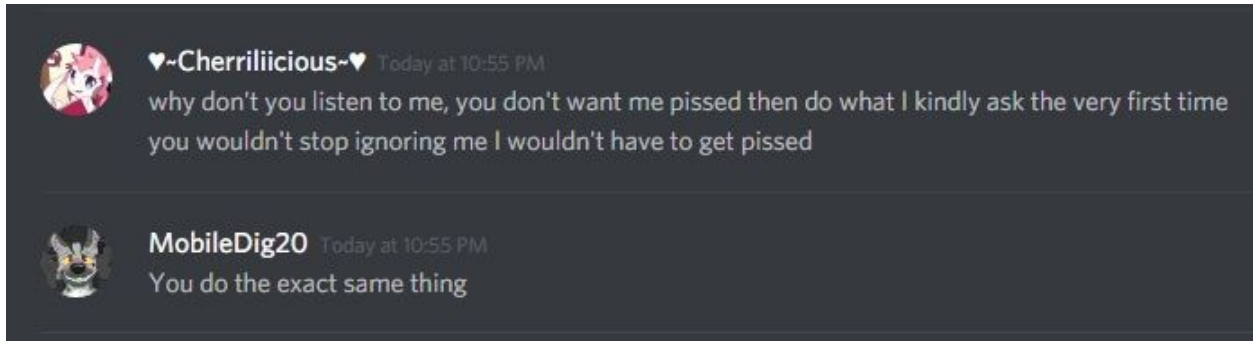

"And going back to what I said before. You seem to only reply happily with those favorites and not others. Me for example. I been around for months and months. I have donated robux to you...half my robux. I still don't have as much as I did before. I been one of the top 10 active people with a short time. And this is the appreciation I earn back. Even with those poor choices, its not enough for an excuse, a valid excuse. You would not just...block someone you care for just because they ask you not-friendly questions. Hell your probably gonna read "5%" of this again. You don't care enough to read what I have to say. If there is something you like, im sure you would read it. If there is something you would give you attention to, I'm sure you would, well give attention. But like before with pats. I asked for your opinion about him and if I should revoke your ban. All I got was a "k". That shows you don't care. I'm also sure that you read what bomby says. He like to write paragraphs like these also. Do you read what he says? Now....please actually put one minute of your time to read this. One minute of reading a message someone has to say won't kill you. I know you don't get these a lot. Or then again, your poor choices may decide otherwise. Don't say this is just rambling. Its a single message designed to not spam your dm's. And yes I am making an essay"

Ironically and in such a hypocritical way, Cherry unbanned Mobile and then seeked to allow Mobile to return to keep his respective positions as staff and developer, Cherry you just can't seem to make up your damn mind.

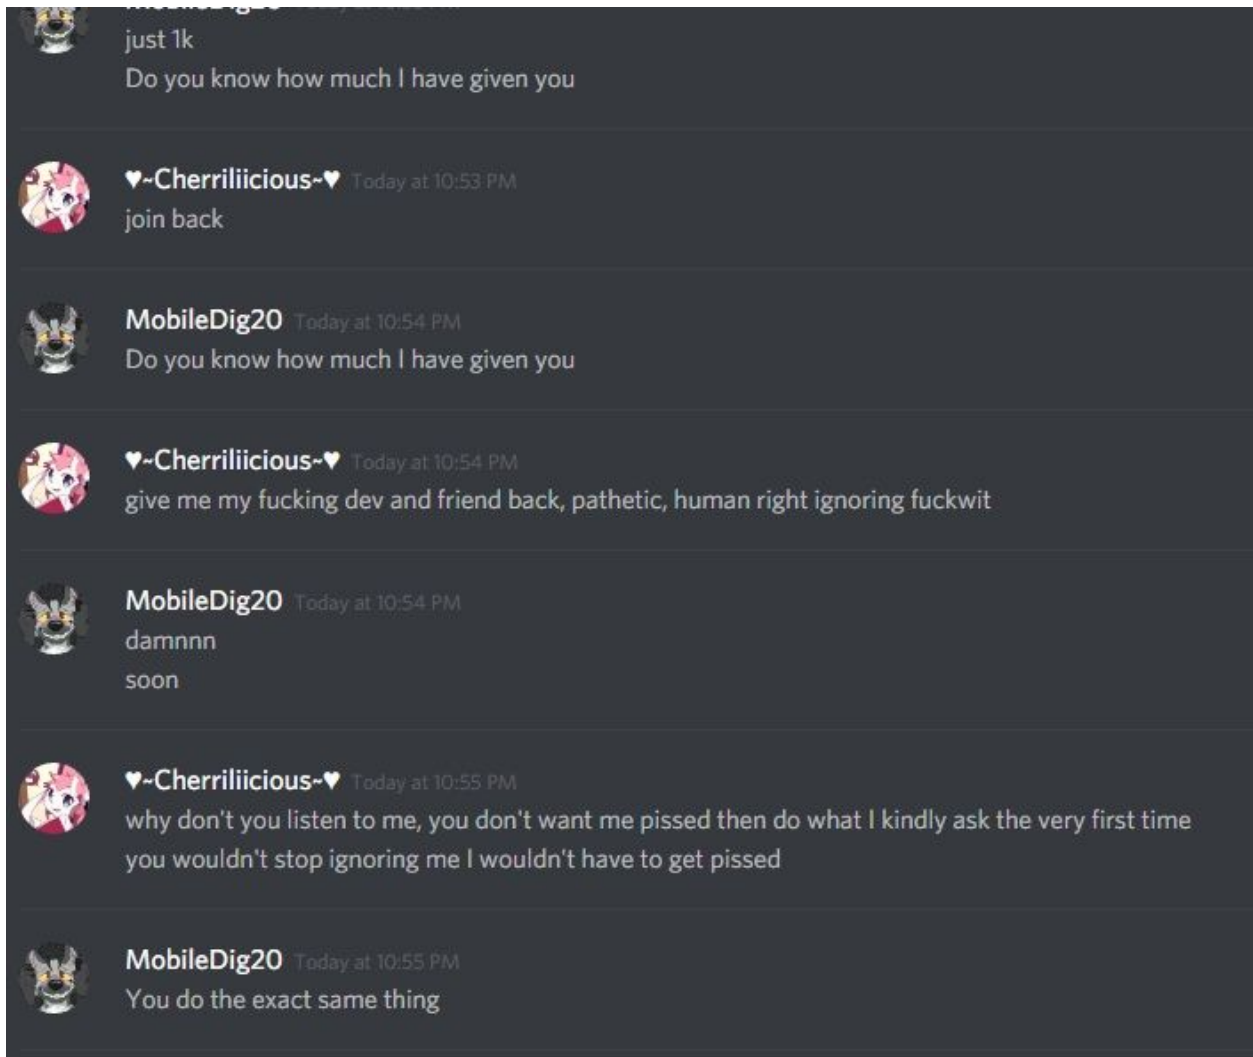

--

Update 3/11/18

I told you, he can't make up his damn mind.

Here comes Cherry, in desperation, tries to gain the staff he flipped of, wanting to control them as if they were his puppets

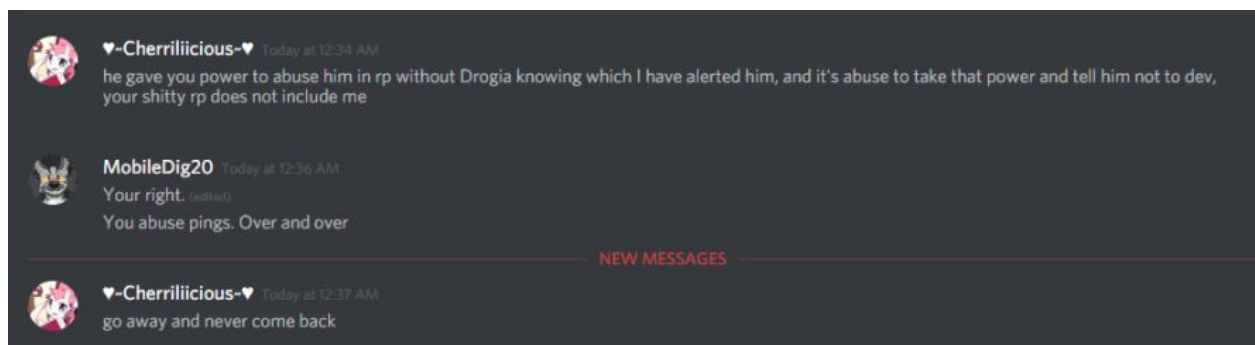

Mobile came back, and you guessed it! It happened again, you'll see

Cherry has a very bad way of handling issues, and if no one else can do it with the right idea, then he will take them his own way by using such little shitty threats that will make you want to do the opposite and leave the server and stay as far away as possible from Cherry.

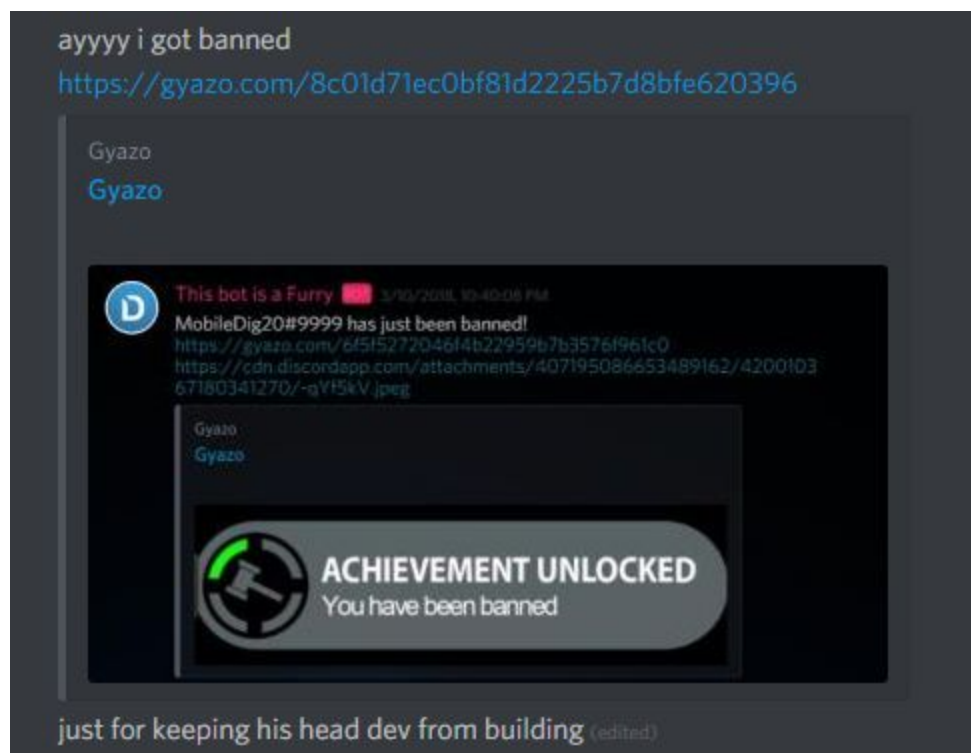

For apparently, denying a head developer for working for Cherry, Cherry decides to rant to him about it, and then goes to tell him a "human right ignoring fuckwit", "oml that english" - Cherry

You see, just goes on to threaten him, with shitty little ping threats, IF YOU DON'T WANT ME PISSED, DO AS I SAY

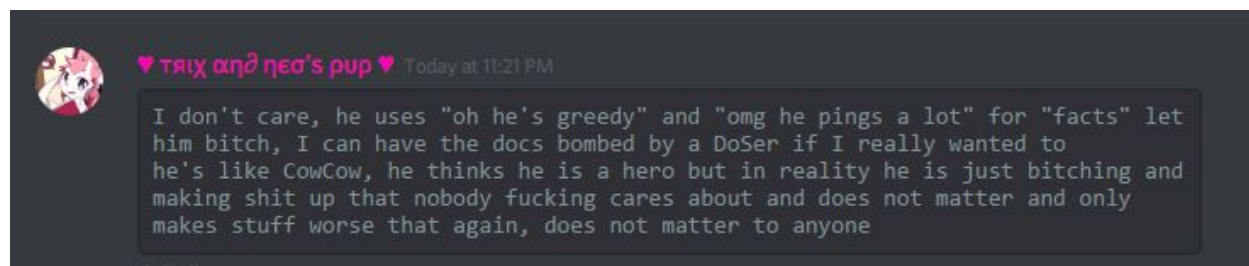

After Cherry's failed intent to bring him and his head developer back, it was time to accept defeat, in a very childish way

This just really shows how 'sorry' Cherry was, so much (sarcasm), to go ahead and change his mind in the DMs as if he never even cared about wanting him back, now this is what Cherry can be like once you don't submit to his regime

--

Also, just got this recently

XD

You know, we aren't going to bring up the topics over and over again, you really think we're going to keep using the same argument over and over again, no, that's not how it works, but you always seem to mention what you do yourself, so we won't need to cover that because you already did the work for us in your try hard intents and threats you libtard.

If you think you can yet again try to threaten others and try to send others to help you out, oh lord, you can't even do that yourself, you just make puny little statements and threats that won't ever happen

Sure, yeah, try to threaten the holder of these Docs on the cloud, Google, and tell them that you're gonna DDos them for puny little drama that stands here against you, and you're just making this harder on yourself with this unnecessary post, you're making yourself look worse, there is no need for heroes, we are not heroes at all for trying to speak out against you.

If no one cares about it, then why did he take the time to embroider the font with a nice fancy box to take the time to discuss about the docs that haven't even been released yet

Why did he take the time to make threats on us, on documents that you have not even seen, and which I expect, docs that you will not even fully see, because you are too lazy to read them, but you are not lazy to keep writing shitty responses at us, which ironically, shows that you care, and anyone who is not even paying attention to the server at all, is showing that they couldn't care less about you either, because that's how much they care

Here's a poem I decided to make, it's short, and to the point, although why was it necessary to do it :

To manage the chat he purges,
To show amongst all that he is the one that truly emerges,
You might think he's as sweet as a cherry,
But from he shows,
He shows he can be as dark as a blackberry

Kristofyr#----

What Cherry thinks he gets when he pings

Although pinging is an essential thing to do to get attention, Cherry does this rather incorrectly. People learned to hate pings due to the never-ending onslaught of these assaults. The reason he pings from my opinion (and this is purely my opinion, claim it untrue, and I'd say it's okay) is that he really wants attention and sympathy. Lots and lots of it.

First, the subject of all Cherry's pings are utterly useless. Pings ranging from mediocre details about his group, to various "defenses" against lurkers and the like, to a blunt and rather uninformative "hi." I don't know what Cherry strives for, but I really think he goes to being relevant, and in extension, his server. This is very conceited; Notice that I got a Valkyrie helm now! Look at these screenshots! Feel my anger and disappointment as I show these proofs! Feel me and take pity! I haven't seen a single ping that would benefit his group or its members more than it would benefit him, his group, or his agendas and views. His drive to seek approval from his peers has made him frustrated when he pings, and soon, you'd find him pinging everyone again to conform to his ideals! How absurd! He would not want his popularity and idolization stripped away and by giving in to his pings and talking irritatedly we only feed the attention-seeking beast called Cherry.

Now, this is still my opinion, but do you really think because he wants activity that we should give it to him? I think it would be okay if we are getting paid. Cherry expects us to “chat” and to promote activity. Ha! I can hear the underlying message. Hey, members of Team Cherry, I want you to make activity. Now, Now, Now! When were we people trying to make Team Cherry active? If it was really a worthwhile server (which I don’t think it is) Cherry won’t need to ping people for activity if people actually had a reason to talk. Instead, we got this act of desperation. Pinging left and right, Cherry demanding his members to type in chat. Even if it’s hatemail, it works. Activity is activity to Cherry.

That is all.

I'd put some nice current propaganda, in hopes of showing it all and wait for people to criticize us over it, but I don't need propaganda to make a point, and the original source is just buried deep in Cherry's skull, just need to look for it

End conclusion.